

Makoto walked at a clipped pace down the hall, eyes roving over the walls. The manor was grand as always, its shining walls and splendor spilling out around Makoto. He crossed his arms over his chest. He always felt small, observed, in this manor; the corridors were far too large.

Rooms passed him by, some of their doors opened and some closed.

J had too many rooms to have need of all of them. He often only used a few.

Turning a corner, Makoto walked all the way down a side-hallway before he walked up a smaller, less ostentatious set of stairs to the second floor. J had asked him up there, for something; Makoto had a guess as to what it was, but... the demon almost a/ways had some kind of sex on his mind.

Makoto sighed once he got to the top of the steps, and stretched his arms out above his head. Maybe he could wheedle a visit from Fjord if he played his cards right.

Two doors down from those stairs, and to the left. The door was ajar.

J lay on his bed, eyes closed and mouth twisted in a frown. He was draped over his pillow, legs curled around each other and tail flicking with impatient frustration. He was waving one of his paws, claws extending and retracting as he made this movement.

Makoto stood in the doorway for a long moment, eyes raking across the expanse of J's body. His form was as beautiful as ever, curves draped in satin and wings splayed to either side of his hips. His eyes were closed, long eyelashes fanning against high cheekbones. The gaze that hid behind his eyelids, Makoto knew, was piercing and strange—a demon's glare.

Makoto laughed inwardly at his own little joke. After all—wouldn't he also have a demon's glare?

After sating his appetite for watching, Makoto stepped into the room. The footfall was light, less than a whisper on the floor, but it was loud enough. The demon on the bed opened his eyes, turning all three to look at Makoto. Raising his horned head, J smiled softly.

"Dear," he murmured, moving to sit back on his rump and lean onto his hands. His legs splayed suggestively. "To what do I owe the pleasure?"

"You asked me here," Makoto huffed.

J feigned disappointment, lifting a hand to his stomach. As he shifted, the blanket slipped off the swell of his belly. As this happened, Makoto glanced at the bulge of his skin and then to the side, flushed.

"What a mean little thing," J simpered, pouting. He jutted out his chin, tilting his head to the side ever-so-slightly.

Makoto scanned the room once more, watching the walls for a second. A moment's hesitation meant the world for getting Makoto a step forward in this situation, getting him an advantage... and with J, that advantage was desperately needed.

The demon lifted a hand, tucking his long light hair behind his ear. It draped prettily over his shoulder, the strand soft and enticing. His skin glowed under the soft light.

"Won't you come to bed with me, pet?" He asked, tilting his head back.

The long and fawnlike column of his throat tempted Makoto. He wanted nothing more than to sink his teeth in, tear and rip and maim. But he couldn't, because even with his uncanny ability to regenerate after vicious wounds... J was still cradling the bump of his stomach. That could not be ignored.

Gently padding, Makoto crossed the room. He kneeled upon the bed and then leaned forward, catching J's lips in a kiss that he put effort into keeping chaste. His hand skated down the demon's chest, over the frilled shirt he wore, down to his stomach. His palm was warm, the touch gentle as a feather; it would not do to squeeze this part of him.

"How far along are we?" Makoto murmured.

"A little over four months," J hissed. His tolerance to pain never had touched this part of him; his over-sensitive belly and chest always gave him pause.

"You're already so big, J," Makoto murmured against the side of J's lip, looking down at the swell. "I didn't imagine you would look like... this for a good long while."

"I don't know if you know this, dearest," J grumbled, "But four months is a 'good long while.'"

Makoto pursed his lips, conceded the point.

J curled his tail around Makoto, pulling him closer. The warmth of his skin against Makoto's had the man's heart picking up speed. And then J was leaning closer, pressing his entire side against Makoto's. He groaned high in his throat, turning his head so that his chin was resting atop Makoto's head.

"What would I do without you, sweet pet?" J lamented, curling his long arms around Makoto's middle.

Makoto leaned into the embrace, breathing in. He smiled slightly, letting his eyelids fall closed as he did. J's body was warm, and the rush of blood in his veins was loud like thunder in Makoto's ears—comforting, almost.

J lifted his hands to stroke Makoto's hair, and he bent back with the motion.

Makoto let himself be pulled away from J, looking up at the demon with eyes slightly wide. His face was hot, flushed, and the look that J was levelling him with was not helping things in the slightest.

"Well? What would I do without you?"

Danger had edged in on J's tone, lining his words with an edge. He was looking down at Makoto with eyes that still glittered sweetly, but he had an almost wolfish tinge to the way he expressed himself. In that moment, Makoto saw him as he'd seen the demon when he'd first been brought to hell: cruel, predatory, but beautiful in his wickedness.

Heat pooled in his face. In his chest. Between his legs...

"You wouldn't have had... this," Makoto whispered, reaching out to rub his palm over J's sensitive stomach.

J shivered, spreading his thighs. He rolled his head to the other side, his hand drifting from Makoto's hair to his cheek. There, it squeezed; a warning, perhaps, or a plea to keep going.

Makoto pressed forward, leaning up to capture J's mouth in another kiss.

This was deeper, with teeth; Makoto nipped J's lip as the demon lay back, pulling Makoto with him. The younger man straddled J's legs, the bulge of his cock pressing up against him. Makoto shuddered, rolling his hips down into the contact—relishing it, feeding into the urge he still had to rip into the demon beneath him.

As Makoto pressed onto his hard cock, J jerked. His paws spread, claws extending to their fullest. His wings, too, twitched. He smiled lopsidedly.

"Ooh, pet. You shouldn't get me so riled up, not with our child in my belly."

Makoto wrinkled his nose, looked down at J's swelled and pregnant stomach. He reached down to the hem of J's starched white shirt, rucking it up over the mound. Milky skin stretched thin and veiny, stretch marks lining the lump of his body. They were artful, almost... Makoto leaned down to them, pressing himself against J as he did. He put out his tongue—

The sensation of Makoto's tongue laving over the stretch marks had J writhing beneath the other demon. His wings jumped and jolted, feathers pricking up.

Makoto reached out, stroking mischievous fingers over the demon's pin feathers, touching the most sensitive of them.

J moaned, high and heady, in the back of his throat. He thrashed against the linens, panting. Makoto's other hand came up to push into J's shirt, brushing over breasts swollen with pregnancy. The nipples, hard now from arousal, had become over-sensitive throughout the past four months. J keened.

Makoto squeezed J's breast fully, kneading the fatty tissue. The demon twitched below him, whining loud and needy in his throat. His face scrunched up, eyes sliding shut.

"Are you sensitive, J?"

Makoto brushed a thumb over J's nipple, before rolling the bud between his fingers. The skin, hot and hard, was malleable beneath the touch.

J growled, opening his eyes. He panted, arching his back up into Makoto's touch. His wing curled in, feathers puffing out around Makoto's hand, the shafts of his feathers shaking with the strain.

"Of course I'm sensitive, you dolt," he rumbled. "Look at what you've done to me."

Of course, Makoto knew, the demon meant his swelled stomach. What Makoto chose to take the statement as, though...

"What? Made you hard? Turned you on?"

Makoto leaned over the demon, rolling his hips down into his erection. J hissed, baring his sharp teeth.

"You're such a little shit," J growled.

Moving together, the two men pushed and pulled at one another, trying to chase after their own pleasure and their own peak. That was what happened, Makoto surmised, when you put two power-hungry demons in a room together; they locked in a dance of trying to get to the top faster than the other, trying their best to beat out the competition and come out stronger.

J pulled off his shirt as Makoto tweaked his nipple once more, growling as the fabric caught on his horns. He pulled harder, ripped the fabric, and tossed the garment to the side.

Makoto pulled off his own shirt, tossing it into a corner, and reached down to unbutton the stately slacks that J so often wore. Makoto believed that this was the only full outfit that J owned. They were well fitted, which was a bonus.

J wriggled so Makoto could get him out of his pants, and when they were off he simply ripped his underthings away. His cock bounced free, tapping the bottom of his round belly, and he shuddered.

"What a sight," Makoto murmured, reaching down to wrap a hand around the demon's cock. Stroking it, thoughtlessly, he looked up at J's face. "You, all flushed and pretty, with too big of a stomach to do much else but lay back and have me."

J nodded slowly, and his face belied the demon's disdain at giving away power so readily.

Makoto gripped tighter, relishing in the flash of pain that crossed J's features. He twisted his wrist, leaning forward to lap at J's dick for a moment.

Other hand drifting down between J's legs to run along his taint and down to his asshole, Makoto hummed and leaned away from the demon's cock.

J breathed long, shuddering breaths. His head was turned, his hand curled toward his face and pulling blankets toward it. His teeth were bared, sharp and dangerous, and blood welled from the nip that Makoto had given to his lower lip.

Stroking harder, Makoto was transfixed on the bright ruby drop of blood that decorated the demon's soft skin. His lips were bright, pink and inviting, and bitten bruised. Soft. As they twisted up in pleasure, Makoto leaned forward and capture them in a kiss again.

The way that J kissed, now, with Makoto's hand pulling grunts and moans from his mouth, was hungry. His teeth and tongue were mixed into the movements, dragging canines along Makoto's lips and licking along the inside of Makoto's teeth.

Makoto twisted his wrist again, swiping his thumb over the head of J's cock. J twitched at that, his whole body jolting.

"Fffuck," J hissed. "Makoto, please."

Makoto leaned back, biting at J's lower lip as he leaned away.

"Please, what?"

J moaned, closing his eyes tight. He rocked his head back, reaching down to grip the sheets beneath him. His stomach and chest both heaved with his breaths. He opened his eyes as Makoto once more swiped his thumb over the head of his cock. His gaze was pleading, pathetic.

Makoto massaged his fingers along the seam running between J's balls and his entrance, smiling.

"Would you like me to fuck you, J?"

J looked up, opening his mouth. He didn't answer, instead letting out a low and long-suffering groan. He opened his legs a touch wider, inviting anything that Makoto would give him.

Still, Makoto persisted.

"Would you like me to fuck you?"

J's eyes flashed to Makoto's face, anger lighting them. He wrinkled his nose.

"Doesn't it look like I would, pet? I'm practi—hah—practically dripping for you."

Makoto smiled a sideways smile, and narrowed his eyes slightly. For a moment he remained hesitant, running feather-light fingertips along the skin that he'd already drawn over tens of times to draw out that angry pout from J.

Makoto leaned down, pressing the flat of his tongue against J's dick. The demon's head lolled back again, and he moaned loud and clear. His wings curled inward, folding up against his hips, and then flapped out to full extension when Makoto engulfed his cock with his mouth.

Slowly, Makoto worked his mouth down to halfway along the demon's shaft, trying to keep himself from overdoing it. J trembled, toes curling as he groaned. A clawed hand found its way into Makoto's hair, gripping the long black locks.

Using his hand to stroke what part of J's cock that he couldn't take into his mouth, Makoto finally pressed a finger into J.

His body tensed for a moment, hole clenching around the intrusion. After a moment, however, and with a loud groan, his asshole relaxed and let Makoto's finger in. His muscles clenched down around the digit, fighting between pushing out and pulling in.

J moaned aloud, his voice rising into a keen as Makoto swallowed around his cock.

"Gods," J whispered. "Gods, Makoto, please, you're doing so well—doing so amazing, pet."

Makoto hummed, narrowing his eyes. He swallowed down more of the demon's cock, squeezing the base of it. His finger worked in and out of the demon's ass, opening him up slowly to prepare for a second finger.

J began to rock his hips down into the contact, whining high and breathy in his throat.

Makoto sped up his movements, chasing the sounds that J was making under him. He gagged lightly around the demon's cock, pulling back to keep himself from doing it again, and stroked the part of his shaft that he couldn't reach with his mouth. The wet slide of saliva against the hot, hard skin made for a pleasing sensation—Makoto's own dick twitched, interested.

Makoto ground down into the bedsheets slightly, moaning around the demon's cock. He looked up through his eyelashes and saw that J was looking down at him with eyes wide, pupils blown so big that his irises were nearly overtaken. He opened his mouth, his teeth just barely peeking through his bitten-red lips. Throwing his head back, he moaned.

Makoto closed his eyes once more, and slid down J's cock to swallow more of him. He sped his hand up once more, trying to wriggle his finger around to loosen J up that way. As he did this, the demon arched.

"I'm ready for another, please, Makoto, give me another," He murmured, pulling at Makoto's hair.

Makoto obliged.

The second finger slid easily in alongside the first, the stretch making J hiss. Pain flashed across the demon's face, replaced by ecstasy as Makoto removed the hand around the base of his cock and began to fondle his balls.

J's thighs quivered, knees curling up and splaying out. His stomach was almost comical in this position, big and round and marked by the stretch that it had experienced over the last four months. Makoto could just barely see J's face over the bulge of his belly, his horns peeking up the highest.

J wriggled, groaning at Makoto as he began to scissor the two fingers inside him.

"I want to see you," he whined.

Makoto didn't pause in his ministrations, still bobbing his head up and down on J's cock and thrusting his fingers in and out of the demon's asshole as J wriggled around to try and prop himself up so as to see what Makoto was doing.

Makoto looked up at him, humming around his cock. J's arms shook, his hand twitching in Makoto's hair.

Makoto always relished the demon in these moments; looking properly fucked, debauched by something so simple as being fingered. The way that J looked down at him, light eyes almost black with lust, his lower lip bleeding from being bitten and his face flushed red with arousal. Vulnerable... vulnerable, beneath Makoto.

Adding another finger, Makoto smiled around J's dick.

The demon grounded himself by curling his hand into a white-knuckled fist in Makoto's hair, pulling a sharp mouth from the younger man. His breath came in short gasps after that, his chest bouncing as he breathed and his stomach shaking with the urgency of his inhalations. Makoto stopped massaging his balls, moving his hand to pet at the swell of his stomach.

J shivered under him, skin jumping.

"Fuck, pet," he babbled, his voice high and whiny. He released his grip on Makoto's hair, soothing him with a soft petting motion.

Makoto's fingers pumped in and out of J's ass in time with his mouth's bobbing on his dick. He would thrust in and crook his fingers, dragging them back out with that same curl to the digits. With the spit that was running down the underside of his shaft, over his balls, down the seam of his body, Makoto found a small amount of lubricant. This meager wetness made the motion of Makoto's hand sound sloppier, squelching noises joining in with the moans and whines of the demon.

J kept on babbling, scrabbling at the blankets beneath him as Makoto continued to finger him.

Makoto was slightly impressed that he hadn't cum yet, so intent was he on bucking his hips down into Makoto's fingers and thrashing around in pleasure. Though, thinking back on it, the demon did have quite a bit of stamina...

Makoto looked up at J; his face was twisted up, red with arousal. He was biting his bottom lip, drawing blood with his too-sharp canines. He was rocking his head, nodding loosely, and as Makoto watched his eyelids fluttered shut.

Pulling off and out of him, Makoto leaned back on his haunches.

J whined at the loss of contact, looking up at Makoto with furrowed brows.

"What...?"

Makoto rolled his shoulders, reaching down to begin unbuckling his trousers. He pushed them (and his boxers) down around his hips without speaking, fishing out his cock. It bounced into the air, bobbing erotically as he wiggled himself fully out of his pants.

J's eyes widened, and he smiled. Spreading himself out, he splayed his legs to invite Makoto to the end goal.

"Of course," J murmured. "Of course, you want to fuck me, pet."

Makoto growled, dropping his pants and underthings off the side of the bed. He shuffled forward, reaching up to grab one of J's horns. He pulled J in as close as he could without touching foreheads together, and bared his teeth.

"Remember who wanted this, J," he hissed. "You're the one who was begging for me to fuck you, earlier."

J shuddered, reached up to stroke Makoto's shoulders. He nodded.

Makoto pressed in.

Immediately, J relaxed back. Makoto's hand was still on the demon's horn, and so he was pulled down when he dropped back down onto the blankets. His face was pressed into the column of J's throat, and so as he began to thrust shallowly into his tight heat, he mouthed at the column of his throat.

J moaned, reaching around Makoto's back to run his fingers along the younger man's shoulder blades.

The threat of claws was there, their sharp drag pulling at Makoto's skin. The tingling lines of pain that they left on Makoto's skin burned hot and pulsed, and as Makoto reached down to J's hips in order to pull the demon down into his thrusts, he felt a sharp prick from one of J's claws and moaned at the slow trickle of blood down his back.

His hips jittered, erratic movement. He sped up his thrusts, relishing the drag of J's hole against his cock.

"Fuck, yes, please pet, please, harder," J babbled, his words rising in crescendo as they went on. Makoto couldn't help but oblige—after all, how pretty were the words spoken, only to deny them?

Makoto went harder.

J was veritably bouncing on Makoto's cock, his hair mussed and his hands scrabbling at Makoto's back. His legs shook with the force of the thrusts, wings relaxing and extending in a dance that had the blankets rucked up around them. Feathers scattered themselves around the bed, linens sliding easily beneath the two bodies.

Makoto pulled one hand to J's stomach, the other drifting from his horn to his hip. The hand on his belly stroked and pressed, tracing patterns in the stretched skin. The other hand gripped hard enough to leave bruises on a normal person; and thank the gods that J was not.

"How does it feel," Makoto growled, leaning up to mouth at J's jaw. "How does it feel to beg me to put another one of these inside you?"

J quivered, arching his back into Makoto.

"It feels amazing, pet," he murmured back.

Makoto bared his teeth, pumping his hips harder. He wanted J to feel this, to feel him for a week afterward. To know that he'd begged, and whined, and asked for Makoto to come to his room all for the sake of fucking him again. He twisted his hand away from J's hip and hooked it around the demon's leg, pressing forward.

J screamed.

His mouth was open, eyes wide, and he keened hopelessly into the air. He dug his claws into Makoto's back, shrieking as Makoto kept pounding into him without stopping. Ten identical points of pain bloomed out on Makoto's back, warm blood burbling up out of them and flowing down Makoto's back in thin streams.

Makoto kept driving into him, his thrusts alternating between as hard and as fast as possible. His hand still splayed on J's stomach, he pressed and soothed the skin underneath his warm palm.

J's body tensed and relaxed in intervals, his moans rising into a fever pitch. Makoto ground his hips down into him, hard, and he bore his teeth.

"Are you close, then?" He asked, squeezing J's leg harder.

J nodded, his head lolling back against the bed.

J's cock was trapped between his own stomach and Makoto's hammering thrusts, getting smushed into the soft skin of his underbelly with every push forward. He cried out on one thrust in, reaching down to hold Makoto's hand that was still splayed across his stomach.

He squeezed, the gesture seeming sweet. Makoto leaned down, kissing J's cheek, smiling against his skin. The demon turned into the contact, a soft smile on his fucked-out face. His eyes pleaded for more. Makoto would give him more. He pushed his hand down.

And J bit back a scream.

He came, burbling moans that didn't quite sound like anything that could be described as words. His body milked Makoto's cock as he spilled into the crook between his and Makoto's hipbones, painting the skin white. Makoto pushed harder, then, trying to cum faster. He gritted his teeth, leaning down to bite and suck at J's skin. The demon's moan jumped in pitch, and he grabbed the back of Makoto's head.

"Please, Makoto, please cum, I can't take anymore," he whined.

And who was Makoto to refuse him, when he begged so prettily for it?

Makoto drove forward once, twice, three more times, before finally his body squeezed and the coil that had been building in his stomach snapped. Pleasure bloomed out of him, into his hands and his feet, a tingling sensation following immediately. He pressed his hips flush with J's ass, holding himself in the demon for as long as he could stand it. Once spent, he pulled out, moaning softly when he did. J's hole pulsed, clenching around nothing at all.

Makoto leaned down, kissing J's temple. The demon grabbed the back of his head once more, holding him there for a few seconds before releasing him.

The young man collapsed onto the bed, laying a hand over his chest. He was breathing hard, almost panting, and J seemed to be in similar straits. The demon's chest rose and fell quickly, still catching his breath. Cum splattered the bottom of his round belly, and sweat shone in a thin sheen on his skin. He looked properly fucked, blissful and sleepy.

Makoto leaned up off the bed, turning to J. The demon had already closed his eyes.

Rolling his own eyes, Makoto tossed his legs over the side of the bed and grabbed J's ruined underwear to wipe himself up with. He pulled on his boxers and his trousers, and walked out of the room to get a wet cloth and some water.

He came back a few moments later to find the J had turned on his side and curled up, his tail snaking around himself to make his body curl even tighter. One wing was draped protectively over his stomach, the other splayed out beneath him. He was clutching a pillow to his chest, and his even breathing suggested that he'd fallen asleep.

Makoto knew better.

"I brought rags," he murmured, holding up the wet cloths he'd carried to the room. They were in a small bucket, filled with warm water. In his other hand was a glass of cool water—this he sat on the small dressed that J had to one side of the room.

J opened his eyes and smiled, uncurling himself.

"What a sweet little pet," he whispered, gesturing for Makoto to come nearer.

Makoto approached the side of the bed, setting the bucket down and kneeling on the bedsheets. He reached out to tuck a strand of hair behind J's ear, smiling down at the demon. He really was a pretty man.

Leaning down, Makoto chose what he thought was the softest cloth. He pulled it out of the warm water that he'd prepared, ringing it out so that it was simply damp. This he swiped over J's skin, being extra careful around his tender breasts and belly. The sweat-sheen was replaced by the dampness of the washing, and J shivered in the cooling air. His cum was wiped off with a different rag. Makoto then pulled out another rag and swiped it across J's belly, taking special care around his underbelly and the folds between his stomach and his pecs.

J mewled at this, almost curling back in on himself.

"Hush, J," Makoto scolded. "I'm washing you. You don't want to smell, do you?"

This calmed J down somewhat, and relaxed him back out to full length.

Makoto enjoyed the moments that passed quietly between them, him just peacefully washing the demon and the demon laying back and relaxing. Makoto even got a chance to wash J's paw pads and tail, which J barely let anyone touch. The fucked-out expression on J's face gave away why he was being so... moldable. He continued on, taking pleasure in the fact that he got to see this part of J that so few others did.

"We're done, I believe," Makoto whispered once he'd washed down to the base of J's tail.

J stretched, purring softly. He closed his eyes, squeaking as he did.

"What a lovely man you are to me, Makoto," he murmured, reaching up to hold the back of Makoto's head.

He wrapped his wings around Makoto, pulling him in close and curling around the man. He hummed a small tune, something Makoto didn't recognize; perhaps even demons sung nursery rhymes.

Makoto breathed in J's scent, wondering at the fact that it hadn't changed much at all over their course of them having sex. That was one thing he had never fully gotten used to with demons; their sex-scent was almost imperceptible underneath their everyday one.

The bed was soft, tempting. Makoto let himself be pulled down into the embrace of the linens, his head lowered gently down onto a satin pillow. He looked up into J's eyes, and saw love—something that seemed so rare. The demon ran a hand down Makoto's side, smiling lightly, and leaned in to kiss his forehead.

Makoto barely registered as J's hand slid over his own, pulled it down to splay over his stomach.

"Maybe you really did put another in me," he murmured against Makoto's skin.

Makoto shuddered. He curled into J.

"Can I say that I hope I didn't?"

J shook his head, laughing and showing teeth.

"Absolutely not."

Makoto smiled. He leaned forward, pressing his head to J's wide chest. The thud of his heartbeat coursed through Makoto's head, solid and unwavering. A tickle at his calf told Makoto that J had wrapped his tail around his leg. Makoto rubbed his hand over J's stomach, the warmth of it seeping into his palm.

J was warm. Almost over-warm, but not quite. His wings were like blankets, wrapped fully around Makoto's hips and waist. His legs tangled in Makoto's, and his tail did, too. Even still, Makoto felt J leaned over him to grab the linen that he'd been laying under when Makoto had entered. Sliding this over the both of them, J let out a contented sigh.

"I could do this every night," he murmured.

"Which? The sex, or the cuddling?"

"You underestimate me, dear." J leaned back, looking at Makoto with sparkling eyes. "Why not both?"

Makoto smiled, hummed assent.

J pulled him back into an almost smothering embrace, and was asleep in moments.

Makoto stayed awake, relishing this moment of tenderness. It was foreign to him, now, since the demon seemed so set on debauching him and having his way with him. These moments of love, true love, were something that Makoto clung to when he was given them. He didn't quite know when the next one would come... so he wanted to keep this one in him for as long as he could.
